How Stanley became a good student

In his book Victorious Living, missionary E. Stanley Jones tells how he answered a young person who asked, “Shall I be a student or shall I be a religious man?”

Jones said he could see no conflict between the two. Indeed, he had discovered that living for God actually made him a better student.

Jones told the fellow that before he became a Christian, he had been at the bottom of his classes. After Jones gave his life to Christ, he concluded that being a poor student was no place for a Christian.

So he began studying seriously, praying his way through school. Jones devoted his intellect toward serving God, and as a result, God’s power radiated through him.
